

Becoming a Problem

A film resource to support discussion about young children and behaviour

Observing and monitoring

Thoughts and comments.....

Children who were becoming a problem were likely to be more closely monitored – for instance through behaviour plans or the attentions of a personal worker

Becoming a Problem' research project report)

"Addressing 'Problem Behaviour' in the Early Years: An Innovative Film Resource". A research project supported by the Economic and Social Research Council (Ref. RES-189-25-0122). Directors: Dr Rachel Holmes and Professor Maggie MacLure Education & Social Research Institute, Manchester Metropolitan University email esri@mmu.ac.uk

Project website http://www.esri.mmu.ac.uk/resprojects/project_outline.php?project_id=127